Notes:

^^: Valuation Multiple PEx is calculated based upon Current Market Capitalization divided by Latest Available TTM Earnings for any individual stock and sector. If PEx multiple is less than 0 or greater than 50 , is marked as NM. PBx is based upon Current Market Capitalization over latest equity. Dividend Yield for any stock/sector is based on Last announced Total Dividend Amount over Current Market Capitalization of the stock/sector. Earning Yield is calculated as Latest Available TTM Earnings divided current market cap while Return on Equity (RoE) is calculated based upon Latest Available TTM Earnings over Latest Equity. For Sector and Market Valuation Multiple calculations all the companies with negative TTM Profits have been excluded.

^^: YTD return is calculated as: "[Current Total Market Capitalization/Total Year End Market Capitalization] -1", where the Current Market Cap includes distributed Cash Dividends for current / last year, if any. (Applies to stock, sector and overall market). For any Capital Increment, we revise our year end market capitalization in order to equalise the base for YTD return calculation.
